Scott Zangenberg

Personal profile

I'm a gamer who loves to program. I generally program in a framework called React.js. When I'm not programming, I generally play videogames with friends or by myself. I love to print 3D things and work on my dedicated server pc. When I'm not gaming or programming, I generally just go out and walk around the city listening to music or playing pool with my friends.

Work Experience

- Cleaner at a place called Crispy Cod down by the beach in Spain for the summer.

- Help my dad with a big reconstruction job in an apartment room.

Importing info

- Due to me having a kidney transplant, I require to take medicine 2 times a day generally around 10:00 am and 10:00 pm

- I also need to get my blood test every month and a call/meetup with my doctor a few days after my blood test to talk about medicine changes and such. This I will need to do for the rest of my life.
